Custodial history

The Hospital was established in 1854 as the 'Royal Hospital' at Mansion House on 31 July 1854. The driving force behind the charity was the Reverend Andrew Reed (1792-1862), a Non-Conformist clergyman and philanthropist who established five charitable institutions in his lifetime including the Royal Orphan Asylum, Asylum for Idiots (later Royal Earlswood Hospital) and the Royal Hospital, later known as 'Royal Hospital for Incurables'. The aim of the hospital was to provide a permanent home for people living with disability where there was no known medical cure and no other family or parish support was available.

The Hospital was initially established in an old workhouse in Carshalton, Surrey from 1855-1857, but soon a new premises was required as patient demand grew. From 1857-1862, the Hospital was established in Putney House, situated on Upper Richmond Road, Putney before moving to its current location, Melrose Lodge (formerly West Hill Mansion) in 1862. Once moved the Hospital quickly began to convert the Georgian mansion for use as a convalescent home, which more accurately reflected the function of the institution. Work was quickly undertaken to build two new wings to the north and south of the Georgian mansion house, before a new wing was built from 1879-1882, which allowed the accommodation of 100 more patients and included an assembly room for religious services and performances.

The Hospital offices were based in the City of London until prior to the advent of the Second World War when they were transferred to the hospital. There is reference to there being a loss of some of the early documents in a fire but the main administrative documents of the early hospital survive. Other items were held for safekeeping at the hospital's solicitors, Farrer & Co, which were transferred back to the hospital in a safe deposit box.

Scope and content

The collection spans from its inception in 1854 to the present day and includes records relating to governance, administration, estate, financial, fundraising, medical and research. There is a wide variety of types of records include committee minutes, correspondence, admission case books, domestic ledgers, reports, fundraising pamphlets and audio-visual material and photographs.

Notes

Immediate source of acquisition

The Hospital began to actively collect and bring together historical papers and artefacts in 2013. The majority of the collections came internally from cupboards and stores in the hospital with a few items donated from ex staff members. In 2018, with the appointment of a full-time archivist the collection has grown to include accessions from various departments and external donors, along with a growing collection of born-digital records and digitised records.

Prior to this some of the historic records were clearly retained based on the sources referenced from histories published by the hospital in 1936 and 1967. The former, The Royal Hospital and Home for Incurables, Putney, and its Founder. A short history of the parent institution for incurables until its completion in 1918, with a biography of its founder, Andrew Reed, D.D. by Philip French, makes reference to a loss of a number of early records relating to the hospital in a fire in the City Office in the early 20th century.

Arrangement

The records have been arranged into 9 sub-series:

Administrative records: governance records, admission records, domestic stock and estate records, religious services and visitor's books.

Fundraising records: papers relating to the Fundraising Department, printed appeals

Financial records: financial committee minutes and bequests

Clinical records: Matron reports, Medical Officer reports, patient case notes, registers for nurse training school

Research records: research and conference reports

Publications and talks

Photographs

Artefacts and artwork

Audio-visual material

Restrictions on access

Records are open to the public, subject to the overriding provisions of relevant legislation, including data protection laws.

Conditions governing use

A reprographics service is available to researchers subject to the access restrictions outlined above.

Copying will not be undertaken if there is any risk of damage to the document. Copies are supplied in accordance with the Royal Hospital for Neuro-disability Archives' terms and conditions for the supply of copies, and under provisions of any relevant copyright legislation. Permission to reproduce images of documents in the custody of the Royal Hospital for Neuro-disability must be sought.

Creator: Royal Hospital for Neuro-disabilityHouse of Lords

Title: Papers relating to the select committee of the House of Lords regarding conditions in London hospitals

Reference code: RHN-AD-01-05

Date: 1892-1893 (date of creation)

Scope and content: Report from the select committee of the House of Lords regarding conditions of hospitals within the London area, which included a report on the Royal Hospital for Incurables. The report was critical of several aspects in which the hospital was governed namely the lack of a women's committee, full-time medical attendant and qualified nurses and the limited visiting times for seeing patients. The Hospital responded by establishing its own internal enquiry which resulted in a published response to the report in 1893.

Subsubseries: RHN-FU-02-03 - Christmas appeals

Creator: Royal Hospital for Neuro-disability

Title: Christmas appeals

Reference code: RHN-FU-02-03

Date: 1872-1937 (date of creation)

Scope and content: Published annual Christmas appeals produced by the hospital. The appeals were widely sold and distributed around the United Kingdom and formed an important part of the hospital's fundraising activities from 1872 to 1937. The appeals often took the form of an account or sketch of the hospital and its patients and were often produced by well known writers, such as

Anne Thackeray (1837-1919), Margaret Oliphant (1828-1897) and Rev Philip Power (1822-1899) and illustrators, such as Lancelot Speed (1860-1931).

The Archive has an incomplete set of the appeals but several others can be found in other collections, namely the British Library.

Creator: Fullerton, Georgiana Margaret Hester [Credited as "Georgiana"]Fullerton, Susannah Amy Fanny [Credited as "Minnie"]Fullerton, Mary [Credited as "May"]

Title: Algernon Hall, A Story for Children

Reference code: RHN-PU-02-17

Date: 1866, 2020 (date of creation)

Scope and content: 2020 edition of the book, published by Alpha Editions. First published in 1866 by John Henry & James Parker in Oxford and London. Written by a thirteen year old girl called "Georgiana" and illustrated by two of her older teenage sisters, "Minnie" and "May". This is a 29-page moral tale for children about obedience and forgiveness. Includes a preface, written by Georgina's mother, stating that the reason for this book is that it might be sold to help the son of an old servant of the family gain admission to the RHRI. At the back of the book is a ten-page list of named charitable subscribers alongside the number of copies they have bought.
