ANNUAL REPORT

We have had another year of new construction all over the Hospital, but we hope that we are now nearing the end of the major works in respect of ward re-organisation and modernisation. These have caused a good deal of inconvenience for both patients and staff who have accepted them with patience and good humour. The end product is that the Hospital is now much better planned and equipped to the benefit of patients and staff alike.

Extensions to the Departments of Physiotherapy and Occupational Therapy have at last been completed. It is amazing to see what a difference these comparatively small extensions have made to the facilities for the departments. In particular, we now have adjacent to the Craft Room, the Art Studio and Pottery Room complete with electric kiln and potter's wheel. These extensions would not have been possible if it had not been for the generosity of the Wolfson Foundation and we are confident that this gift is helping considerably in the rehabilitation of our patients.

Our Lancashire boiler, which provided steam for the heating in the Hospital, was installed very many years ago and even so was second-hand. The Management Consultant, in collaboration with our Consulting Engineer, devised a scheme for replacement of this boiler by three small modern automatic oil-fired boilers, involving re-planning of the boiler house, together with the building of an extension. Planning did not commence until the autumn of 1968 and the work was started when the central heating was no longer required early this summer. We had our worries owing to a tight time-table and we were quite relieved when the new boilers were first fired just as it started to get cold. We look forward to substantial savings as a result of this project.

Consequent on the plans to cut off the steam supply to the Hospital, a proportion of the kitchen equipment was no longer effective. We therefore enlisted the aid of our catering contractors, Messrs. Gardner Merchant, and they devised a scheme for replacement of equipment and re-planning of the kitchen giving, incidentally, far better ventilation. This work went well and the job was even completed ahead of schedule.

The Beaumont Road Estate built on former hospital land by the Wandsworth Borough Council was formally opened, Mr. Reed naming the tower block after Dr. Andrew Reed.

The National Health Service still is not able to cater effectively for the younger chronic sick and we therefore continue to maintain a number of beds in contract with the South West Metropolitan Regional Board for which there is always a waiting list, and we are glad when we can take a younger person either straight from home or from a ward for old people in which they are unsuitably placed. The contractual arrangements are, however, only in respect of patients whose homes are within the area of the Regional Board, and this distinction leads to the refusal of many worthy intending patients who are in all other respects suitable for admission.

The Health Service and Public Health Act, 1968, introduced under Section 6 a new power for Boards of Governors of Teaching Hospitals to administer services outside their hospitals. It had been hoped that arrangements might be effected with the Teaching Hospitals for the admission of their patients on the same terms as the Regional Board. Needless to say, this would have been to the advantage of the Teaching Hospitals who are keen to release for acute cases beds occupied by those who are going to need nursing care for a long time. The procedure, however, is a little cumbersome and regrettably up to the present time we have not been able to admit any patients under this provision.

We continue to be grateful to the Local Authorities all over the country for their support of their patients in the Hospital and Home. In the course of the year we have received many visits from welfare workers who have come to see their patients, and it has been gratifying to learn of their pleasure at the standard of care that we provide.

SIR FRANCIS GLYN

Just as we went to press, we heard with deep regret of the death of Sir Francis, who served as Treasurer from 1950 to 1962, and from then to his death was a Vice-President.

H.R.H. the Princess Alexandra with Miss Pamela Doughty, formerly a Sister in the Q.A.R.A.N.C.

ROYAL VISIT

We were privileged to receive an informal visit from Her Royal Highness the Princess Alexandra, on Tuesday, 24th June, when she came to see the Alexandra Rose Day depot in the Hospital. Her Royal Highness made a particular point of going round and talking with a number of patients who were gratified by her genuine interest in their life here.

Our thanks to Mr. Robinson, the honorary Assistant Appeals Secretary, for organising this Flag Day with his customary skill and enthusiasm.

BOARD OF MANAGEMENT

We were all sorry to hear in April that Mrs. Paterson wished to resign from the Board and the House Committee owing to illness. Mrs. Paterson was elected a Member of the Board and House Committee in 1941 and had, since that date, been an assiduous attender at meetings and other functions. She has always taken a great interest in the patients and we miss her presence. We hope, however, that she will still be able from time to time to visit the Hospital and continue her interest in our activities.

Two new members have been elected to the Board during the year. Mrs. Pollitzer was already known to us through her gift of the ambulance. Mrs. Meglaughlin has for the past year been Chairman of the London Committee. Both these ladies have a record of voluntary service in many spheres and we hope that for many years to come we may have the benefit of their counsel at the meetings of the Board and House Committee.

PATIENTS

32 patients were admitted during this year, 12 men and 20 women. Many of our patients live a long and contented life in our Hospital and Home in spite of their illnesses; it is not uncommon for patients to live on into their eighties and nineties.

Every endeavour has been made to meet the needs of the younger chronic sick for whom the National Health Service is still not really capable of providing accommodation with people of their own age and there is nothing more pathetic than to visit a young person confined to bed in a ward peopled by the aged. 18 patients came from

The New Ambulance.

N.H.S. hospitals, 8 from their own home and 6 from Nursing Homes, etc. The preference given to people under 65 and the bar at age 70 has meant the refusal of some deserving cases, but we feel that in this way the Board is meeting the needs of the more urgent and deserving cases.

PATIENTS' ACTIVITIES

One of the criteria for admission is that intending patients should be able to benefit from the wide range of our facilities and, in recent years, despite the ill health of so many of our patients, their activities have been expanded. When one of the patients who had been admitted this year was asked how she was getting on, she said that things were going very well, her only concern being that she did not have enough time to do all those things that she wanted to do.

Matron is extending the trips by patients outside the Hospital and we are particularly indebted to so many of our good friends for the excursions that they arrange to their lovely houses and gardens in the summer, and the excellent teas they provide. Patients are also being taken for outings in Richmond Park and to a nearby branch of Marks and Spencers where they are given V.I.P. attention.

All this would not have been possible had it not been for the magnificent gift of the new ambulance. Three kind anonymous donors have given us sufficient money for the replacement of our smaller ambulance which is ageing, and a new one is on order. It will have a hydraulic tail lift like the big one and this will make loading less of a trial.

It is believed that no patient this year who wished to go on holiday did not in fact get away, and thanks to the generosity of relatives and well-wishers and the contribution of patients themselves, they have been to various parts of the country.

Matron effected arrangements with a Holiday Camp on the Isle of Sheppey which is specially equipped for the disabled, and some 22 patients and a number of staff spent a week there in June. No praise is too high for the hard work, long hours and interest of the staff and other volunteers for the way they made this venture such a success. Other visitors to the Camp were envious of our organisation. The only problem was that our patients were enjoying themselves so much that it was quite a struggle to get them off to bed in the evenings. One of those who went was a nonagenarian who had not been out of the Hospital for thirty years.

STAFF

This has been a year of comparatively few staff changes. Many of our staff live nearby and the considerable amount of building in the locality has helped recruiting. It is encouraging to note that when staff settle in they seem to stay.

The work load on nursing staff, both trained and untrained, has not been lessened with the lengthening of the patients' day and the increase in the activities of those who are sufficiently well and willing. The Board wish to pay tribute to the high standard of care and interest in their work of the nursing and other staff.

We shall be sad to lose our Pupil Nurse Training School now that we have been formally notified by the General Nursing Council of its closure, to take effect after the completion of training of the entrants who start in November of this year. This School, established by Miss Howard in November, 1958, has trained nearly a hundred State Enrolled Nurses. The pupils have come from all over the world and their youthful keenness has been appreciated by all. We have been told that our School is not really large enough and that it is not feasible to operate it when the syllabus requires our pupils to spend more time gaining experience in other hospitals than in our own. It should, however, be noted that the Inspectors have always given the School an excellent report, and we are indebted to Sister Parfitt for her continuing enthusiasm.

We have had, for periods of four weeks at a time, intakes of nursing trainees from the Cheshire Foundation. They have joined in here with enthusiasm, and have been a great success with the patients; we hope they too have benefited from working with us.

We learned with regret of the death of Rabbi Dr. M. Ginsberg, our visiting Jewish Chaplain. His patients miss him. We have welcomed in his place Mr. Rockman who has considerable experience ministering to hospital patients.

Brigadier Villiers retired at the end of December last after 17 years as Secretary and made his home in the Highlands. He visited us in June and is happy and busy in his newly found leisure.

On the death of Mr. Hall, Mr. Powell took over responsibility for the salaries and wages section of the Accounts Department and we welcome in his place Mr. Brown, who for nearly a year now has been assisting Mr. Stevens.

VOLUNTARY HELP

A hospital is as good as those who work in it and we are indeed fortunate in the regular help that we receive voluntarily from a number of friends, some of whom have now been helping us over many years in a quiet and unspectacular manner.

Some of these helpers come as members of organisations who have an interest in Social Service and these organisations see to it that the service is reliable. In addition a number of people come into the Hospital and help patients with the writing of letters, and reading.

Particular mention should be made of the Authorised Lady Visitors who, so far as we know, are a unique body in that they are so organised that every patient in the Hospital has a regular visitor who acts as their friend. Each visitor has no more than five or six patients for whom they care and by their regular visits they do ensure that no patient is friendless and that there is someone to talk with them regularly and, better still, to listen to them.

The Authorised Lady Visitors also organise the Sale of Patients' Work in October of each year, the whole of the proceeds being made over to the patients themselves, thus ensuring that each patient has something extra for Christmas.

Lady Murray, wife of our Chairman, has again given up much of her time to executing a series of murals in the newly decorated Andrew Day Room. They are of equestrian and sailing subjects, and provide a sporting background to a room set aside for the men and for television.

COUNTY COMMITTEES

The County Committees go from strength to strength and we are all most appreciative of the energy and enthusiasm of these of our friends who give so much of their time to organising functions which provide a substantial sum each year. They also make us better known to a wider public. Particular note should be taken of the numerous activities of the Surrey Committee including the successful Forget-me-Not Ball at the Dorchester. We are also indebted to Tamas Vassary for his concert at the Mansion House which was a delight to a very appreciative audience. We are grateful to the Lord Mayor of London for honouring us with his presence on this occasion.

One other item should be singled out for attention in view of the continuing effort and care shown by the organisers, and that is the Etceteras Shop run by the Putney Committee and opened in Putney on 1st March. Thanks to the generosity of so many friends the shop has been presented with a large stock of interesting goods; it is open for three days a week and has made a steady profit for the Hospital.

The London Committee too have run a number of successful functions.

The Bygones Sale was held last autumn and thanks again to so many good friends, it raised more than £4,000 for the Hospital. We cannot expect to have a Bygones Sale every year, but we look forward to the next one.

The Garden Party was held on Saturday, 14th June, which was a hot midsummer day. We are grateful to all the many helpers who made the gross receipts the highest ever.

MANAGEMENT CONSULTANTS

As was reported last year, the Management Consultants surveyed the Hospital in the summer of 1968; the Board discussed and accepted their recommendations and since then there has been much activity in implementing them. A Sub-committee was set up to consider the question of patients' contributions and revised regulations were approved early in the year.

Both intending patients and those already in the Home have accepted with good grace these revised requirements that they should contribute according to their means and we are grateful to them for their co-operation and understanding.

FINANCE

In 1968 we were able to show a modest surplus on income and expenditure account, but this took no account of the fact that we spent a large sum of money on capital works. In that year we were fortunate in receiving an exceptionally substantial sum of money from legacies.

During 1969 we have received more legacies in number than ever before, but on average they have been for smaller amounts, so our income from this source dropped by over £30,000. We are really grateful to those who have remembered the Royal Hospital and Home in their wills.

This year too we have seen the full impact of the increases in Salaries and Wages costs through recent Whitley Council awards. In a hospital such as ours, salaries and wages form an even greater proportion of our expenditure than in an acute hospital, and despite these huge costs the Board of Management are not prepared to cheese-paring on the staffing of the Hospital, as such action directly affects the care of the patients. We are, however, further attempting to make more efficient use of our manpower resources.

In last year's Report it was estimated that 1969 would show a deficit of £49,000. Mainly because of these agreed salary and wages cost increases at the revised estimates stage half way through the year, the estimated deficit was increased to £62,000, the final of £42,000 was owing to some success in increasing revenue. This deficit and the likelihood of continued rising costs of repairs and maintenance, as well as the day-to-day running of the hospital, is a continued source of worry to your Finance Committee as they watch the steady attrition of our reserves.

We are deeply grateful to all our friends. In addition to legacies we have been fortunate to receive several gifts of money, some of them substantial.

We would like to thank these donors, as well as our many regular and continuing subscribers. We owe so much to them, as we do to all those who give their time and energy in varying ways for the benefit of the hospital and its patients.

By Order of the Board of Management,

NIAL CAMPBELL, Secretary.
